native flora & fauna

Serving Albemarle, Clarke, Culpeper, Fauquier, Greene, Loudoun, Madison, Orange, Rappahannock, and surrounding Virginia and Maryland counties

About the Piedmont Environmental Council

The Piedmont Environmental Council works with citizens to keep Virginia's Piedmont a wonderful place—by protecting beautiful and historic landscapes, building great communities, promoting local farms and food, restoring natural resources, and connecting people with nature. PEC is a non-profit grassroots organization supported by people who care about the Piedmont.

About this guide

The purpose of this guide is to provide the residents of the Virginia Piedmont with a listing of businesses, most of them local, that offer products and services that promote our native biodiversity. Go Native Go Local aims to strengthen the local economy and is a sister publication to PEC's Buy Fresh Buy Local guide. If you use this guide, please let the business know that PEC sent you!

PEC does not have the capacity to independently verify all of the information presented here. Contributors to the guide are responsible for its content. This edition was compiled in Spring 2015.

To obtain copies or be listed in a future edition, visit www.pecva.org/gonative or call (540) 347-2334.

Why Plant Natives?

- Plants are the foundation of wildlife habitat. Native plants provide better habitat for wildlife than non-native and ornamental plants.
- Native plants have evolved with our ecosystem, which makes them easier to care for. They don't require fertilizer and don't use as much water as traditional garden plants.
- Most natives have developed their own natural defenses against local diseases and pests.
- Native plants can be just as showy as their traditional counterparts! There are native plants available for every type of garden or landscape.
- Some non-natives can become invasive (e.g. Stiltgrass, Autumn Olive, Tree of Heaven)

PEC's Sustainable Habitat Program

This guide is brought to you by The Piedmont Environmental Council's Sustainable Habitat Program. PEC is committed to preserving the Piedmont's native landscape and the Sustainable Habitat Program helps PEC to meet this goal by assisting landowners in managing and restoring their land's wildlife habitat and water quality from the backyard to the watershed-scale. This non-profit program also aids landowners by locating available funding for management projects and provides free educational seminars to the public.
